

Artistora Marketplace

Simple Monetization & Phase Flow

Goal: Start simple, prove that Artistora generates real customers for professionals, and introduce more complex payments only after the marketplace has traction.

1. Core Business Model

Artistora connects customers with independent professionals such as Makeup Artists, Mehndi Artists, Nail Artists, Hair Artists, Photographers and other creative/event professionals. Customers do not need to pay 100% upfront for every category.

2. Professional Listing Subscription

A subscription can be used later to charge professionals for maintaining an enhanced marketplace presence and receiving additional visibility/features. During the pilot, onboarding should remain free so professionals can experience the value first.

Plan	Purpose	Possible features
Free	Basic listing	Profile, portfolio, services, areas, selected leads
Pro	Professional listing	More visibility, more leads, larger portfolio, analytics
Premium / Featured	Higher visibility	Featured placement, city/category promotion, enhanced profile

Subscription flow: Professional registers → creates profile → chooses a paid plan (when enabled) → payment succeeds → listing/features become active → subscription renews → professional can upgrade, downgrade or cancel. Approval/verification status should be tracked separately from subscription status.

3. Simple Marketplace Phase Flow

Phase	Revenue model	Simple flow
1. Pilot	Free onboarding	Customer requirement → Admin reviews → Match professionals → Customer/artist comm
2. Lead Monetization	Paid leads + featured listings	Requirement → Match → Qualified lead → Professional pays lead fee where applicable →
3. Booking	Online booking + advance	Requirement → Quotes → Customer selects → Booking request → Customer pays advan
4. Scale	Commission + subscriptions + promotion	Artistora facilitates booking/payment → records transaction → platform commission → arti

4. How Money Works

Early MVP: Customer pays the professional directly. Artistora does not need to handle service payments. Artistora can monetize with professional subscriptions, featured listings and, later, qualified paid leads.

Later: For a ■12,000 booking, the customer might pay ■2,000 as an advance through Artistora and ■10,000 after the service. Artistora can eventually take its commission from the transaction/payout. The exact payment split can vary by category.

5. What to Build Now

- Customer requirement / Lead creation

- Professional profiles and admin approval
- Lead assignment/matching
- Separate Quote records for each professional
- Customer quote selection
- Booking request + artist acceptance
- Booking lifecycle: requested → artist_pending → confirmed → in-progress → completed/cancelled
- Review after completed booking
- Basic subscription fields in the data model, even before paid plans are enabled

6. What NOT to Build Yet

- Do not build complex escrow/payment-splitting logic yet.
- Do not force 100% upfront payment for every service.
- Do not implement transaction commission until Artistora controls enough of the booking/payment flow.
- Do not launch many subscription tiers immediately.
- Do not charge professionals before they understand the value of the marketplace.

7. Long-Term Revenue Stack

- 1. Professional subscriptions — recurring revenue for enhanced listings and features.
- 2. Paid leads — charge professionals for qualified customer opportunities.
- 3. Featured listings — paid visibility in category/city results.
- 4. Booking commission — percentage of transactions once Artistora facilitates online booking/payment.

Recommended principle: Free onboarding → prove demand → subscriptions/featured visibility → paid leads → online booking → transaction commission.
